YOUTH PEACEBUILDERS FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE

- SHAPING SHARED VALUES FOR A BETTER WORLD -

28-29 October 2017, Belgrade

The European Center for Peace and Development (ECPD) University for Peace established in 1983 is a unique international educational and research institution in this part of Europe that has been actively involved in the issues of human security, reconciliation and tolerance as preconditions for stable peace and sustainable development in the Balkans, as well as in the international cooperation in the transfer of knowledge. With this goal in mind, ECPD launched its Global Youth Forum for Peace in 2013. In 2014, ECPD, VAMK University and Long Island University-LIU established an official global partnership to strengthen and expand the mission of promoting global peace set forth by the United Nations. Students and young professionals representing numerous countries from all over the world will gather this year in Belgrade to share with, learn from, teach, and inspire each other on their paths to global peace. This forum promises to be interactive, uplifting, challenging and fun.

The Forum will take place under the general theme "YOUTH AS PEACEBUILDERS FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE", focusing on how young men and women can contribute to building a culture of peace and sustainability from local to global level and engaging a greater responsibility worldwide. The Forum will also address aspects of education, cultural diversity, active citizenship and skills for sustainable development as the main sub-themes.
